

The “Shutdown” narrative

The apostate system visibly remains on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis. A few years back I ceased directing communiqués to them organizationally, and shifted My emphasis onto direct, open and public exposure. This was partly due to some horrific overt events they’d implemented, either genuine or media-fabricated, and the inability to determine which of those and whether overt lives were indeed taken by the apostate system, thus again violating Divinely-conferred rights, merely compounded the audacity rather than mitigated it. But the cessation was also partly caused by their organizational refusal to heed, align with, and to apply Divine Will principles and opt in an organizational sense to realign ‘their’ personnel with a Divine Will- and True Nature-aligned basis. I’d ensured they’d had the information needed to do so, they’ve organizationally been disinterested in doing so, and the People also need that information so My effort is presumably better spent on that.

In the interim, the apostate system has been continuing to present various non-overt narratives via their organizing symbolism. For those unfamiliar, they’re an absurd and inherently non-credible sequence of implied fictions presented non-overtly via symbolism and the behavior of affiliated personnel, they’re analogous to their various overt ‘psyops’, and they collapse almost immediately with a moment’s contemplation and the application of Divine Will principles. Their time, effort and resource expenditure in these unworthwhile schemes while they have so much to do in aligning personnel with a Divine Will and True Nature-aligned basis instead presents quite a waste of all those things, and a distinct error of misprioritization.

Concurrent with this sequence of mini-narratives, the apostate system has also been presenting or at least implying a ‘larger’ narrative it’s been maintaining consistently as a premise throughout, making great efforts to imply it to Me right about the time I ended communiqués with them. I’ll summarize for those unfamiliar:

[narrative description start]

‘Contingent on Your refusal to accept a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis, such as those we’ve been presenting to You, we’ll acknowledge Your alignment with a Divine Will and True Nature basis, and the superior authority which results from that. We're prepared to cede recognized authority over the apostate system personnel, resources, infrastructure etc. over to You in recognition of this, but it will take some literal time to effect the transition, to notify and familiarize the involved personnel with the concept, and to illustrate for them Your legitimate, Divine Will-aligned basis. This requires us to continue our presentation of various counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature narratives, so that in rejecting them You can make that plain fact clear for them. However, we're serious about this. And to show You and everyone involved that we're sincere, we'll implement a "Shutdown" protocol.

'The public assessment process will take about three years. If during the previous year You have continued to reject a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis despite all our best efforts, we'll acknowledge the disparity between Yours and ours by incrementing various symbolism and 'suckage' in which the apostate system is increasingly reviled among both the affiliated personnel and the general public, to publicly display, non-overtly, a sort of 'debt' or deficiency of legitimacy which we've incurred by refusing to accept Your authority. We'll default to using [Japan]'s symbolism for clarity in doing this, since we know You're familiar with that. We'll also frequently use Babylonian Kabbalist symbolism to present the concept, since involved personnel are familiar with that, and we'll apply increasing amounts of 'inversion' symbols which increase yearly, starting in January or thereabouts.'

'Because the incremental symbolic complexity, not to mention the intensity of the overt 'suckage', will obviously become 'unsustainable' beyond a certain point, this will facilitate trust because it's apparent to all that this process must indeed have a definite endpoint and cannot continue indefinitely.'

[narrative description end]

We're currently in the third, and it's been implied, final year of this scheme.

I keep describing it as 'implied' because what's presented on a non-overt, counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis is dissociated from those very things which would guarantee trust and credibility. Their Divinely-conferred True Nature for example has guaranteed trust and credibility, but those things are manifestly absent and conspicuously so.

There were quite a few reasons I'd refrained from responding to them on this:

- * Scenarios presented on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis inherently lack credibility

- * As the telepaths and propheciers of the apostate system had taught Me regarding Divine Will principles, situations involving knowing, Willful and avoidable 'suckage' are merely attempted rationalizations for a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis. And of course, no such rationalization can ever be valid. They're merely attempts to proffer and 'sell' another person on the supposed validity of a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis.

- * I'd just spent years clearly explaining Divine Will principles with some thoroughness to the apostate system, and this as well as probably every other contravention of them are categorizable as invalid counter-Divine Will fallacies. The idea that it's somehow My duty to rebut each and every instance of them individually would be not only needless but also disrespectful, particularly given that I'd already presented openly and publicly the system by which anyone of reasonable intellect can make those kinds of assessments using common sense.

- * When I had corrected the apostate system on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature fallacy they'd presented, they'd manifestly just replaced it with yet another. That formula merely presents a kind of needless and ineffective 'makework' situation.

- * Naturally My confidence in such a narrative, as with the rest of them, was (and remains) negligible to nonexistent. Meaning that at the end of this 'three year plan' when nothing happened, all personnel involved who'd been hearing about it could see the evidence that anything done on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis was inherently unreliable and of no validity. Also, blatant proof that the apostate system indeed Chooses a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis.

- * All things on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis are not only unreliable, but essentially metaphysically arbitrary. The "Shutdown" narrative is such, and so by the available manifest evidence is the apostate system as a whole. Some amount of allowance for 'cultural disparities' with regard to illustrating Divine Will principles could be made, and if My assessment had been mistaken the apostate system would have afforded themselves an opportunity to 'save force' and for their currently-recognized authority figures to redeem themselves in finally acknowledging and ceding to Divine Will and their own True Nature. It was a courtesy and nicety that, all else being equal, I felt I could afford to allow them if only they'd make use of it.

* The continuous apostate system on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis has been a systemic affront both to Divine Will and to My position in particular. That sort of thing should hardly be rewarded with an increased effort to invest time and energy in communication and resolution; the idea that it does would certainly be codependent behavior.

* Were the apostate system actually serious in acknowledging a valid and legitimate Divine Will and True Nature-aligned basis, the "Shutdown" rigmorole would have been quite unnecessary in preference for an open, direct, immediate ceding of authority, enabling Me to systematically apply the 'retroactive' capabilities of the telepaths and propheciers to restore, correct and improve the situation and make it didn't happen.

* A 'handover' of 'conceded authority' resulting from a purported "Shutdown" effort would itself be inherently unreliable and without a guarantee of authenticity, due to the counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis on which it was presented.

* For Me to have accepted same would've been to have accepted all manner of intensifying 'suckage', on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis, merely on the premise that in doing so, I could achieve what I was seeking (or so it would appear, at least). And that of course would've been 'selling out' to a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature position Myself, which is what the apostate system has been attempting to induce all along. Desirability: nil.

As the manifestly invasive and Divinely-conferred rights-violating telepaths and propheciers with the apostate system are well aware, these are the thoughts, assessments, conclusions and motivations I'd had regarding this in the interim.

What changed, and why am I coming out publicly with this now?

* We're coming up on the end of this 'glorious three year plan', and for Me not to openly and publicly declare My position on it could be misinterpreted by the rank and file as having opted into a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis. The resulting lack of clarity there would be sub-optimal for all concerned.

* The involved personnel deserve, I think, to know better than to 'buy into' yet another narrative presented on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis. The general public ought to as well.

* The manifest 'suckage' has been intensifying during the interim to outrageous levels, including 'new and improved' systematic violations by the apostate system of Divinely-conferred rights, which figuratively 'puts them more firmly into the debt hole' organizationally speaking. At some point, a lack of clarity (even reiterated clarity, perhaps) on these matters could be misconstrued as complicity on My part via passive enabling, and that's about when a Divine Will- and True Nature-derived duty on My part is perceived to exist, compelling Me to publicly respond.

* The systematic interim behavior of the apostate system has been implementing at least three major things which I've already clearly, openly and publicly stated were encroachments against My Divine Will-conferred authority while their recognition of My position remained unresolved: new or continued efforts for globalization, the violation of Divinely-conferred rights, and the emplacement by the apostate system of economic hardships upon the People of the literal States. (As I'd stated, we've manifestly already been subjected to more than enough theft from the apostate system on that particular count.)

* And peculiarly, the apostate system itself has been presenting either Myself or the rank and file with what appear to be various murmurings to the effect of, 'Doesn't Satori know that this "Shutdown" narrative is presented on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis which is invalid?'. Yes, of course I know that. And the telepaths and propociers, and this the apostate system's currently-acknowledged authorities, know that I know it. Heck, before I knew it the telepaths and propociers taught Me Divine Will principles, so they know it too, and I therefore know they know it. All involved, except perhaps some of the rank and file personnel, and the general public know it. It's the currently-recognized authorities within the apostate system which have been disregarding it. Their manifest Choice of unworthy behavior regardless has been their own. Apparent efforts to attempt to blameshift it onto Me would be quite inappropriate. I'm hardly the cause of their manifest organizational Choice for scandalous behavior during the last few years, let alone throughout the last few thousand.

Getting into some of these items a little more, a ‘cultural distinction’ in terms of implementing and illustrating Divine Will principles between different systems cannot legitimately be regarded as legitimatizing nor justifying counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature, particularly when that behavior violates Divinely-conferred rights. To say that would be to also suggest that ‘culture’ is superior to, and takes priority ahead of, Divine Will and clearly that’s untrue. That would be the error of ‘idolatry’.

Openly releasing this information regarding their implied “Shutdown” narrative close to the end of their alleged ‘three year plan’ means that they’ve had plenty of time for their non-overt organizing symbolism to clearly establish that the narrative was indeed quite intentional, which means the evidence for it now exists on the public record. Releasing it early enough in the ‘last year’ of it affords the apostate system the courtesy of having quite a few months of ‘thinking time’ in order to sort themselves out from it, and figuratively ‘pull themselves out of the hole’ of debt and liability their recent organizational behavior has manifestly caused. Retroactively, for preference.

It’s true that per Divine Will principles, the formula that counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature systems lose perceived value when Divine Will-aligned systems present themselves, the idea that this has to be the only transitional method is not only inaccurate and unnecessary, it’s also pretty reprehensible and unconscionable from a Divine Will-aligned perspective. The idea that there has to be a ‘necessary evil’ in order to effect a transition just amounts to the idea that ‘evil’ is necessary and desirable, and of course its very nature is that it has no legitimate selling points. There’s nothing stopping these people from just doing the right thing, now and always, and retroactively too. No ‘years-long wait’ required. But the idea that these things are ‘necessary’, let alone acceptable protocol, is just a concept on which the apostate system’s ‘nonbinary’, ‘good and evil co-mingled’ system attempts to sell people. That’s essentially been its product throughout.

The next part is firmly and, I should emphasize, completely in the ‘evidence’ category. It’s here, and the most relevant information’s at the [twenty-one minute, twenty-three second] mark although the entire thing is quite interesting. This is evidence of concern, which appears to indicate that the [coronavirus] event has been the result of years or even decades of planning by the apostate system, including coordinated exercises among many of ‘their’ major political bureaucratic figures, the military in the States, and the corporate media practicing how to make it all happen, how much force to impose, and how to get maximal compliance. We're also seeing that approximately two months before the first reporting about [c]oronavir[us] came out the w[or]ld's major economies were evidently starting to cr[ash], and that this was somehow averted. The apparent 'solution' for this seems to be the apostate system's much-hyped 'Great Reset', creating 'a new monetary system' (just for which the papacy has been clamoring). The economist reporting is describing it as 'a new Bretton W[or]lds moment', which should come as quite a major concern to the more knowledgeable 'patriot' types given what the apostate system had implemented with that event. The big names from the R[oth]schilds to the DuP[on]ts have been openly promoting their 'Coalition for Inclusive Capitalism with the Vat[ic]an', so we're talking a major, avoidable, and undeniable effort for gl[ob]alism here. This appears to directly transgress and encroach against My Divine Will-aligned authority countermanding any such efforts, so it appears rather clear how blatantly the apostate system continues to choose a counter-Divine Will basis, implementing counter-Divine Will agendas in utter disregard for Divine Will-derived authority.

For clarity, this is something of an atypical situation to say the least. I've had to do some major Divine Will principles-based moral evaluation with regard to sharing that information. This is due to the fact that the referenced v[ideo] contains, unavoidable, some counter-Divine Will symbolism, likely inadvertently. Ordinarily, I'd attempt to share the l[ink] to a part which avoided much of that unconscionable symbolism, but the apostate system's YouT[ube] has been dep[re]ssing videos which have the audacity to even qu[est]ion the official c[or]onavir[us] narrative, and the alternative pl[at]forms don't appear to offer the ability to start a v[ideo] at a user-defined time. Nor does the information and the accompanying explanation appear to be available from any source free of some amount of counter-Divine Will symbolism. My options then are to present it as-is, or not to present the evidence. Were I left unable to present the evidence of counter-Divine Will agendas due to counter-Divine Will symbolism, I'd then be passively enabling those counter-Divine Will agendas through inaction and thus I'd be complicit both in the injustice, and in the counter-Divine Will basis on which it's based. As such, I'm relegated and indeed duty-bo[und] to present it as-is, via the Common Law principles of 'No one is bound to do what is impossible', 'The laws serve the vigilant, not those who sl[ee]p upon their rights', and the basic duty of 'hue and cry'. This is the most virtuous and Divine Will-aligned response of which I'm aware for such an extraordinary set of circumstances, and I trust won't happen frequently enough to become a legitimate cause for concern. I've stated My Choice for a Divine Will- and True Nature-aligned position openly, clearly, overtly, and in plain language.

In addition, this 'new economic system' appears to involve no small amount of socialism, which of course would violate Divinely-conferred property rights and indeed both Commandment Eighth and Tenth of the Big Ten, with which even the papacy is surely familiar. I presume they are, since their venerated Augustine took the effort to renumber them.

Then we have the economic hardship upon Americans. Not specifically Americans, given that it's been international, but in causing the American People more financial hardship the apostate system has directly transgressed against My Divine Will-derived authority, and committed more crime while simultaneously, yet again, illustrating its manifest Choice for a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis. Jobs lost, businesses closed, rent unpaid, mortgages lapsed, and some retail products unavailable (I was given a phenomenal new computer on a piecemeal basis for My birthday, the first genuinely modern desktop computer I've ever been able to have. And here it sits assembled, unusable because the central processor can no longer be had and the estimated arrival date keeps extending month by month as an indirect resultant of the apostate system's apparent Choice for the [Covid] absurdity).

And then of course we have the systematic violations of Divinely-conferred rights. Digital media deplatforming against those questioning the validity of the apostate system's narrative. (Acknowledged, the vast majority of those being deplatformed are the apostate system's own propagandists, gaining attention as the result of their being 'censored' but many legitimate truth-tellers are being caught up in this as well, preventing their ability to effectively communicate because the infrastructure for it's being denied them.) This of course compounds the encroachment against Divine Will the apostate system manifestly enacted with the strategic collapse of the Common Law courts and juries, since now the only appeal is in the apostate system's own, rather expensive, mock courts practicing some variant of top-down authoritarian Babylonian Law. Then there are the expansive mayoral, gubernatorial and presidential edicts, decrees and Executive Orders being enforced by modernized Roman Centurions as though any of those things were law, and as though they'd ever been delegated authority to regulate the People in their private capacity. Many of these purport to impose

'mask-wearing' and violations of the Divinely-conferred 'right to travel', 'right to freely associate' and 'right to peaceably assemble', as part of a fraudulent narrative. And we have a biased apostate system-aligned corporate media cheering it all on, describing blatant government rights violations [i.e., 'crime'] as 'strict', and 'the rules', with frequent masterly use of the passive voice calculated to defer attention to whom is responsible and precisely where they had ever been legitimately delegated such authorities. Curious, since basic reporting items like whom and where used to be considered fundamentals of competent, reliable and integrous journalism. What we manifestly seem to have now by contrast appears to be mere advertising, with the more blatantly obvious ads placed in between the ideological promotional supplements.

Speaking of ideological promotion, we've been starting to notice the apostate system personnel putting out a new ideological trend: 'Nobody is safe until we're all safe'. This translates to an effort to push mandatory compliance with effectively unlimited government edicts and rights violations, based on a fraudulent narrative, and villainizes those who reject the narrative and refuse to comply. That's yet another 'push' by the apostate system to violate Divinely-conferred rights, implemented as the result of its manifest Choice for a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis and which makes said Choice blatantly apparent. It directly utilizes apostate system control over corporate and social media, as well as non-overt social networks of 'influencers', to implement and shift groupthink and enact whatever agendas; in this instance, using the now-standard Jesuit ideology of 'the common good'. That is, that anyone and everyone is obligated to comply if something is 'for the common good', and of course it's the apostate system who will tell everyone what 'the common good' supposedly is. Fancy, the things we can learn from those on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis; for example I'd always thought that recognizing and upholding Divine Will, True Nature, and Divinely-conferred rights for everyone was a vital and essential part of 'the common good', but apparently per the apostate system it actually involves rejecting and routinely, systematically violating those instead. Some of us outgrew such 'peer pressure' tactics decades ago. Additionally, it seems we can no longer reject various apostate system-hyped ideologies and trends without instead being erroneously marginalized as being '[whatever]-phobic' about them. As in 'homophobic', 'transphobic', you name it. Seems a bit one-sided, biased, or agenda-motivated. The other day I'd actually overheard people who were skeptical of Rome's 'global warming' narrative referred to as 'climate skeptics' and 'climate deniers'. Fascinating. I've never knowingly encountered someone who was denying the existence of climates.

Commerce, economy, rights, government, civics, ideologies, principles, standards of living, religion, history, agenda-free scientific understanding, justice... it seems that none of these things are guaranteed constants while the apostate system continues to Choose a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis. To My thinking, that doesn't provide an ideal advertisement for the idea that what the apostate system provides is 'safety'.

Despite this and plenty more varieties of manifest evidence of the knowing, willful, avoidable and systematic Choice by those in the apostate system for a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis, their True Nature remains a Divinely-conferred constant and will presumably reassert itself, and retroactively, at some point and hopefully before direct Intervention from the Divine Creator Itself. It's just that I'm required by duty to that Divine Will to do My best in the interim, since trusting to anything and anyone knowingly, willfully and avoidably Choosing a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis would be to misplace that trust. That includes their "S■ndown" narrative along with all the rest. Their proffered idea that counter-Divine Will, rights-violating shenanigans are some kind of a necessary prerequisite to doing what they know is right, is comprehensively rejected and exposed. And clearly, their manifest Choice to implement all manner of counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature schemes and agendas while non-credibly implying various Divine Will narratives, it itself neither in alignment with that Divine Will, nor with their Divinely-conferred True Nature.

And now I suppose we'll see just what the precise bre■king strain is for the principals and the rank and file personnel of the apostate system, between their intrinsically worthy Divinely-conferred True Natures, and the people they've manifestly been Choosing to be instead.

That it hasn't manifested itself already, I am quite consistently ast■nished.